

IALOGUE WITH FORMER MINISTERS OF EDUCATION AFTER ONE YEAR OF COVID-CRISIS: WHAT HAVE WE LEARNED?

This last year has been a very demanding educational year. Both the closure of classrooms and the provision of education under extraordinary circumstances have conditioned the last two academic years. Although this crisis has not finished yet, we can start looking at this crisis with some perspective. What went wrong but also what when well and what we have learned.

With the aim of thinking the future of education, we will reflect with former ministers of education on the lessons of this crisis, the flaws and the strengths of our systems.
